ing abroad with your car? It pays to study to rules and procedures applicable in each country…

…Kim Henson reports.

For many people, travelling abroad with their car is a big adventure, and can be daunting.

However, there is much you can do before your trip to learn about the procedures, rules and regulations applicable in the various countries through which you may be driving, and in particular to learn more about the motorways in those countries. It is wise to study the rules, toll information and speed limits, requirements, etc, BEFORE you depart from UK shores. A little pre-planning may save you time, money and hassle.

This link (provided by the tyre company Oponeo.co.uk) will take you to a feature packed with information that hopefully will inform and help you. For example, the image above shows approximate journey times to destinations across Europe. Please click HERE for more information.

Good luck on you travels – and enjoy the journey!
