David Miles (Miles Better News Agency) reports on the prices of electric cars around the globe...

New research reveals the cheapest and most expensive countries around the world to purchase an electric vehicle...

Many of us are likely researching and dreaming of our next set of wheels whilst we're in lockdown; and many will have their mind set on going green and getting an electric vehicle.

But how does the cost of an EV change around the world?

Compare the Market conducted research into the price of a Nissan Leaf in 49 locations around the world, with the research seen here:
