New Suzuki Jimny shows its off-road credentials

Kim says, "For those who are interested in the latest Suzuki Jimny, you may like to read a 'First Impressions' report, written by David Miles (Miles Motor News Ad-Lib), which went live on this website yesterday evening (22nd November 2018).

At that time we didn't have available any photographs of the vehicle in action off-road, but some images of this scenario have reached us overnight via David. I have added these to the main feature, but thought that you might like to see them here too.

From all accounts I have received from fellow writers the diminutive but big-hearted Jimny is a very competent machine in off-road environments. In due course we hope to bring you a full road test of the new Jimny.".
